

Hello,

Thank you for signing up to be a CoCoRaHS observer and letting us know what the weather is in your backyard! Tennessee set records for most observers signed up in 24 hours! and that's thanks to you.

Please take a few minutes and look over the CoCoRaHS website. Here you'll find out where to get a raingage if you need one, how to place your raingage in a good location, how to report you precipitation, and see your daily records plotted. Make sure you take a look at the Tennessee Homepage. Here you can keep up with opportunities for hands on training and other activities going on in the Volunteer State. Check out the Tennessee Coordinators page, this will tell you who to get in contact with for more information. Don't miss the Message of the Day - some really good information. And there is always the bi-monthly newsletter - The Catch - from Nolan Doeskin.

If you know of anyone else, anywhere in Tennessee, that would like to participate in CoCoRaHS please forward this email on to them.

Look for more information in the days to come and remember:

EVERY DROP COUNTS!

Ralph Troutman
CoCoRaHS Coordinator